

60 SECOND INTERVIEW

Katy Bowmer

This week we meet Katy Bowmer who is our part-time Stakeholder Liaison Officer on our soon to be completed Durham University Infrastructure Improvement Project and is a final year student studying Geography at Durham University.

What does your day-to-day job involve?

I'm responsible for managing and implementing the external and internal communications of the project, as well as liaising with all stakeholders from staff to university students. This involves replying to queries and emails about the project, creating published content such as newsletters and maintaining strong relationships with the client.

What is the current focus of your work?

As the project is now only a few weeks away from completion, I'm creating a newsletter updating everyone on the progress, ready for the opening of the new car park, which is the final part of the project. I'll also be creating materials to be published to celebrate everyone's hard work.

What's the best piece of advice you've ever been given?

Treat other people how you expect to be treated yourself!

How do you relax?

In my spare time, I do a lot of graphic design and I enjoy creating logos and branding events such as the Summer Ball at my university. Also, my housemates and I have just started binge watching Grey's Anatomy as we prepare for our final year exams!

What is your greatest personal achievement?

In 2018 I lived in Nepal for four months, teaching and organising community events. It was such an enriching experience to learn a new culture and be able to raise awareness on gender equality, peace mediation and sustainability.

Describe yourself in three words?

Creative. Positive. Driven.

WE OPEN THE WAY
